

At its February 21, 2008 meeting the Board of Examiners for Audiologists, Hearing Aid Dispensers and Speech-Language Pathologists determined that part of the scope of practice for speech-language pathologists includes apraxia of speech and oral motor apraxia.